Activist says 'heat island' status hurts air quality, cooling costs & pollution

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

An energy savings activist says that West Sacramento has some work to do in order to become a "cool community."

Lisa Gartland, director of the Sacramento Cool Communities Program (part of the Sacramento Tree Foundation), reports that NASA aerial photos show the city to have plenty of "heat islands" caused by expanses of dark pavement and dark industrial rooftops.

"They took photos in all kinds of wavelengths, and infrared was one of them," Gartland said of the Lear jet flyover in 1998. "West Sacramento was not too good. You have a lot of warehouse and industrial areas, and a lot of them have dark parking lots and dark rooftops. Another problem is that historically there haven't been any tree or vegetation planting laws other than a requirement to screen property from the street."

As a result, said Gartland, parts of West Sacramento showed up as hotter than average for the region.

Why should anyone care, particularly if they don't live in one of these industrial areas?

"Comfort is one thing," said Gartland. "Summer temperatures are climbing, and it's getting more and more uncomfortable. Pollution is caused by extra air conditioner use. And pollution is very temperature dependent. Every couple of degrees higher, you get the formation of more smog, even with the same amount of pollutants."

"West Sacramento's residential areas do have some nice features, such as nice, mature trees (to help keep things cool)."

Gartland made a presentation on the "heat island" issue to the West Sacramento Planning Commission last month, and recommended the city consider mandating light colored paving and roofing material in new industrial construction. She said some builders are switching to such materials to keep down their own cooling costs in the summer.

"One of the things I urged the planning to do is make white rooftops mandatory," said Gartland.

Grant money and volunteers' sweat help renovate ballfield

VOLUNTEERS hard at work

This past weekend, volunteers from the West Sacramento Little League and employees from the Washington Unified School District pooled their talents and energy and began the labor intensive task of renovating the junior varsity baseball diamond at River City High School.

"We recently received a $4,000 grant from the West Sacramento 444 Foundation," explained newly elected Little League President John Zonneveld, "and we're using the majority of those funds on this project. When we're finished, our senior league teams, as well as the River City junior varsity team, will have a quality baseball field to practice and play on. It's something we've been wanting to do for a long time and with a little luck, most of the hard work will be done by the end of this weekend."

Former West Sacramento Little League President Jim Stephan, who was instrumental in lining up all the materials and heavy equipment needed for the project, said, "We're stripping the entire infield, putting in a brand new mound, home plate and sprinkler system, and when we're done, it should look just like the varsity diamond. In fact, I wouldn't be surprised if it doesn't end up looking a little bit better. It's a lot of hard work, but everybody out here knows it's something that really needs to be done."

New River City High School Principal Morton Geivett was among the 25 to 30 volunteers who turned out for the weekend work party and he said, "The school district has been very supportive of this project and it's a good example of what can be accomplished when everyone pitches in and works together. A lot of young athletes are going to benefit from fixing up this field and it's definitely a win-win situation for both the Little League and River City High School."

The West Sacramento 444 Foundation was created by prominent local citizens in the early days of cityhood (West Sacramento is California's 444th city) and they donate funds raised from their annual golf tournament to local non-profit organizations.

Sacramento, West Sacramento city councils meet again

The city councils of Sacramento and West Sacramento will meet in joint session on Tuesday, Nov. 16, at 7 p.m. in the West Sacramento City Council Chambers. This will be the second joint meeting of the two bodies, following a similar meeting in Sacramento in August.

The agenda will include oral status reports on projects in both cities. The project list includes the Sacramento Embassy Suites Hotel, the West Sacramento Triple A baseball stadium, the proposed Sacramento riverfront restaurant, the lighting and painting of the I St. Bridge, and the relinquishment of State Route 275. Additional oral reports requested by the West Sacramento City Council involve infrastructure challenges in West Sacramento that have a regional impact, and a review of plans for an upcoming summit concerning the Sacramento/Yolo Port District.

Action items include consideration of a scope of work and budget allocation for a joint waterfront marketing plan and consideration of options for an oversight body for waterfront activities. Both matters are follow-up items from the first meeting.

The meeting will be broadcast live in West Sacramento on Charter Cable Channel 20.

Teachers & board air their differences

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

The local school board held an unusual special meeting Monday at River City High School to try to address longstanding concerns from the school's faculty over the board's handling of a graduation issue last June.

Faculty members had given the board a list of about two dozen generally pointed questions about that issue and others. Rather than respond to these questions directly, district officials opted to separate the questions into categories for a fairly informal discussion with the teachers.

The discussion was moderated by Assistant Superintendent Patrick Cambell, who had to contend with sometimes-testy tempers from both sides.

"Personally I think participating in making an exception (to graduation ceremony requirements) was a mistake on my part," board member Ed Hocking informed the crowd of several dozen faculty members at one point. "Had I known then what I know now, I think I probably wouldn't have done that."

The rest of the board generally defended their handling of the June incident as the granting of a rare and appropriate exception to ceremony policy. They stressed a need for earlier intervention by the school when a student appears headed to miss graduation requirements. But faculty members clearly felt that board members were ignorant of intervention measures already in place, and which had already attempted to help the child involved in the June episode.

"I know the notification procedures are there," said board member Irene Eklund. "My issue is intervention. I would like to see us get back to a campus policy that if a child fails 'x' number of classes their freshman year, maybe they should attend mandatory summer school. It's our job to make sure these kids have a chance to succeed."

"There is a lot of information missing as far as how (the board) perceives what is going on," said Chris Kale, one of three counselors at the school of nearly 1,500 students. "For seniors, there are letters, phone calls and conferences done when students are in danger."

The disagreement centered around a student who failed an elective class in his final term at the school, and became ineligible to graduate or participate in ceremonies. The boy's family unsuccessfully lobbied the school's faculty and principal to let him participate, and also unsuccessfully appealed to district administrators. Several days before the ceremony, the family took their case to the school board, which decided in closed session to make an exception for the boy and let him attend graduation ceremonies.

Meanwhile, the boy was enrolled (with his enrollment date backdated) at the local alternative school, where he attended one evening and showed a teacher work completed at the River City High School elective class. The boy then was granted the necessary five units at the alternative school, and graduated from River City with his peers.

English teacher Terry Luttrell was one of the many River City faculty members who had a problem with this.

"A kid has to be accountable at some point," she said. "We have to teach the kids, 'here's the mark, you have to meet it.' You can't waive the requirements and let them walk."

"None of us said that," retorted board president Pat Flint, referring to her earlier sugges-

Emergency landing on Southport road

Pilot and plane were undamaged Saturday when a light aircraft flying out of Sacramento Executive Airport made an emergency landing on Bevan Rd. in West Sacramento.

Suffering mechanical difficulties, the plane landed on the road at about 4:50 p.m., according to West Sacramento police.

The California Highway Patrol secured the scene and the aircraft was towed to the airport in Clarksburg for repairs.

Eight apartments evacuated as fire strikes on Westacre

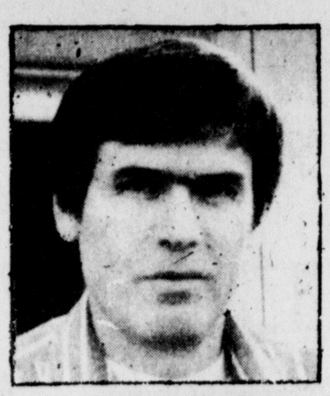
No one was injured when an apartment was "engulfed" in flames Sunday afternoon, although about eight units were evacuated as a precaution.

The fire at a 401 Westacre Rd. apartment unit was reported at about 2:30 p.m., said Lt. Ray Hensley of the West Sacramento Police Dept. Officers at the scene immediately began to evacuate neighbors so that West Sacramento firefighters could concentrate on controlling the blaze. Two of those evacuated were in wheelchairs, and a number were children.

Hensley added that the actions of Sgt. Lawrence and officers Zuniga, Falcon, Newman, Weirich, Steele and Palmer demonstrated such a "nice team effort" that they have been recommended for citations.

Jose Rodriguez: a noble man in a noble profession

My Back Pages



By Daryl Fisher

French Algerian philosopher Albert Camus once wrote, "In the brief time that is given to him, he warms and illuminates without turning from his mortal road. Sown by the wind, harvested by the wind, ephemeral seed and nevertheless creative sun, such is man, through the centuries, proud to have lived a single instant."

For most of us, our own mortality is a fact of life we really don't want to dwell on much. We are too busy raising our kids, or getting ahead in the world, or planning our next vacation. But from time to time, usually when we least expect it, we are suddenly reminded of the fragility of our "single instant" and we are forced to confront a few very unsettling truths; that life is not fair or just, and that sometimes very bad things happen to very good people.

Such was the case recently when the students, teachers and staff at River City High School were deeply saddened to learn that Jose Rodriguez, a much-admired and very popular River City teacher and administrator had been diagnosed with a particularly aggressive form of cancer.

Jose is quite simply one of the nicest, kindest human beings I have ever had the privilege to meet. I am not alone in that observation and I was not the least bit surprised when one of his fellow teachers at River City came up to me the other day and handed me an envelope.

"I've written a little something about Jose," said Coach Chris Baker, who has known and worked with Jose for almost two decades, "and I was wondering if you would take a look at it and maybe put it in the newspaper? I just want Jose to know how much we are all missing him and praying for him."

What follows is Coach Baker's letter, which he entitled A Noble Man In A Noble Profession:

"I've heard it said that the truest measure of a man is the degree to which he positively influences the lives of those around him. If that is indeed the case, as I suspect it is, then Jose Rodriguez epitomizes the standard.

"Jose is my colleague, friend, and confidant. We started our teaching careers in the Washington Unified School District at roughly the same time, some 20 years ago. We have taught together and we have coached football together. In fact, we shared the same classroom for several years, which I believe is one of the surest ways there is to really get to know a person.

"I have always admired Jose. Over the years, he has been offered a number of more lucrative positions in other school districts, but he always turned them down, and that is a testimonial to his commitment to the young people of West Sacramento. He has reminded me on more than one occasion that teaching is a noble profession worthy of one's best efforts. I consider him the consummate professional. He is bright, articulate, and he always has the best interest of our students in his heart.

"It is with young people that Jose's light shines the brightest. I must confess that his uncanny ability to "connect" with students of all backgrounds has long been a source of envy with me. His presence on our campus has been a blessing.

"Cancer is a cruel and indiscriminate disease. It can attack quickly, and without remorse. That is has chosen to strike Jose, in the prime of his life, angers and disheartens me. The specifics are unimportant at this point. Suffice it to say that his prognosis is not what we would all like it to be. Unfortunately, cancer does not differentiate between good and bad people.

"Jose, his lovely wife, Charlene, and his wonderful children, Joey (9 years old) and Angelica (6 years old), deserve far better than this. They are a family of great faith and they continue to draw strength from the support of their church and friends. Jose has approached this situation with the same courage and conviction that has become his trademark.

"I worry, however, that Jose may not fully appreciate the profound effect that he has had on a whole generation of young people. In the education business, success is too often assessed in terms of test results and other academic measurements, but teaching is as much an art as it is a science. There simply is no way to measure how many lives have been changed for the better as a direct result of Jose's positive influence.

"I do know that my life can be counted among all the others that have been changed forever because of Jose Rodriguez. Although the halls of River City High School remain crowded and full of life, I can't help but feel a sense of emptiness. With all the love and goodwill we can muster, we pray for Jose Rodriguez' quick return."

Local baseball home opener: April 18 against Calgary

Professional baseball officially returns to the Sacramento region April 18, when the new Triple A franchise plays the first of its 71 home games at Raley's Field in West Sacramento, said River City Baseball.

The press release indicated that the organization expects Raley's Field to be complete in time for the game.

The team (currently the Vancouver Canadians) will sport a soon-to-be-announced new name, and River City Baseball is optimistic the waterfront stadium will be complete in time for the home opener.

The Calgary Cannons will open that date in West Sacramento for a Tuesday-through-Friday four game series – the first professional baseball series in the capital region for 24 years. Among the highlights of the season are a Memorial Day game in the middle of a five-game series with the Tacoma Rainiers, and an August packed with two blocks of eight back-to-back homestands, with a single day off in the middle.

The team also plans a fireworks display at the field July 4, when Sacramento plays the first of three home games against Tacoma, and just before it plays three more against the Salt lake Buzz.

The Vancouver team has just won the Triple A World Series, and will relocate to West Sacramento as the Oakland A's top farm club and a member of the Pacific Coast League.

During the coming season, the team (to be referred to as a "Sacramento" franchise) will also host the the Edmonton Trappers, Las Vegas Stars, Nashville Sounds, Iowa Cubs, Memphis Redbirds, Omaha Golden Spikes, Tucson Sidewinders and Fresno Grizzlies.

Fresno, the San Francisco Giants' affiliate, will host Sacramento for an April 6 Opening Day game. River City Baseball and its boosters plan to make shuttle buses available for Sacramento fans for the four-game Thursday-to-Sunday series in Fresno.

On the road, Sacramento will face the remaining PCL teams: the Albuquerque Dukes, Colorado Springs Sky Sox, Oklahoma Redhawks and New Orleans Zephyrs.

Raider varsity loses, but jayvee defense really shines

By Chuck Robinson

River City stopped Colfax's running game, but couldn't stop its passing. Colfax had only 53 yards running, but gained 453 passing against the Raiders' varsity football team on Friday. River City racked up 237 yards rushing and 52 passing. The Raiders' Malfred Shaw was responsible for 203 of those rushing yards.

In the first quarter, Colfax scored on a five yard pass, and again on a 24-yard pass, to lead 13-0. In the second, Colfax scored on an eight yard pass and kicked. River City scored on a one yard run by Roy Butz and Morton Geivett's kick was good, for River City to trail 20-7 at halftime.

In the third quarter, the Raiders scored on a 56-yard run by Shaw, and Geivett's kick was good. Colfax scored next on a 34-yard pass and the kick was good, making it 27-14.

In the final quarter, Colfax scored on a four yard run. On the following kickoff, River City's Frankie Medina took the ball back 85 yards for a touchdown, and Geivett kicked the extra point. Colfax then scored on a 14 yard pass, ending the game with a 40-21 win over the Raiders.

On offense, River City was led by Shaw, with 203 yards and two touchdowns.

The defense was led by Medina, with nine tackles, six assists and two pass interceptions and a knocked down pass; by Eric King, who had seven tackles, nine assists and caused a fumble; Mohammad Salman with seven tackles and eight assists; Butz, with four tackles, two assists, an interception and two knocked down passes and a QB sack; Rakesh Sharma, with six tackles, five assists and a knocked down pass; Mario Santos, with five tackles, nine assists; Yasser Salman, with six tackles and four assists; Clay Harrell, with two tackles, six assists and two QB sacks; Marshaun Tate, seven tackles, four assists, two knocked down passes and caused a fumble.

River City's record in league play is 3-3; overall, the Raiders are 4-5.

J.V.'s beat Colfax

The defense was unbelievable. They held Colfax to a minus 37 yards in rushing and gave up only 43 yards in passing. That has to be a new record!

The defense was led by Sam Floyd, with nine tackles, eight assists and a quarterback sack; Roy Smith, six tackles, five assists and a caused fumble; Jesus Castro, five tackles, four assists; Marith Khem, four tackles, four assists and a knocked down pass; Francisco Rodriguez, five tackles, three assists; and Jeff Jones, three tackles, three assists and a fumble recovery.

The j.v.'s record is 4-2 in league play and 4-5 overall.

River City will play its last game at home this Friday with Mesa Verde. Junior varsity plays at 5:30 and varsity at 7:30 p.m.

The 49ers (3-5) returned from their bye week and ran into the Steel Curtain, losing their fourth consecutive game, the most since they lost eight in a row during the strike shorten season in 1980. Pittsburgh beat the 49ers 27-6 before a rain-soaked crowd of 61,192 at 3Com Park. Coach Mariucci pulled quarterback Jeff Garcia out of the game in the beginning of the fourth quarter but it was a little to late to insert third stringer Steve Stenstrom. The two back-up QB's combined to complete only 12 passes for a grand total of 90 yards and Rice caught two of those passes for two yards!

If Steve Young doesn't return real soon it's going a very long season Niner fans. If the 49ers win in New Orleans Young could return for the Rams game the following week. Look for the 49ers to start Stenstrom in New Orleans.

The good news was the offensive line only allowed one sack and opened up some huge holes that produced 223 rushing yards. Charlie Garner had his best day as a 49er, rushing for 166 yards. The 49ers offensive coordinator needs a gut check after calling for pass plays on the opponent's 2-yard line. The 49ers had to settle for two field goals. At the mid way point of the season the 49ers must win on Sunday against the 1-7 Saints. The Oakland Raiders (4-4) will try to pick up their running game as they return to action after a bye week to host the San Diego Chargers (4-4) at 1:05 p.m. at the Coliseum.

Speaking of a running game how about Sacramento State Charles Roberts setting a new NCAA single-game rushing record, gaining 409 yards and scoring five touchdowns. That's right Charles gained 409 yards in Sacramento State 41-20 homecoming victory over Idaho St. The junior running back also broke the Big Sky career rushing record with 4,814 and was named the USA Today/ESPN National Player of the Week

OPINION

News-Ledger Editorial:

Bond projects: come in early & under budget

The next part is the hard part.

Having convinced West Sacramento it can wisely spend $17.5 million in new local property taxes over the coming years, the Washington Unified School District needs to deliver.

The work that is promised must be delivered.

A key to achieving this is the composition of the oversight committee which will help watch how the bond money is spent. Sharp minds, active personalities and "real world" experience all need to be placed on this committee, which is charged with playing watchdog to the taxpayers' money and barking loudly should any of it go astray.

The school board has informally promised to give great weight to whomever is nominated for this committee by the group that campaigned for Measure R, so now it is time for the campaigners to come up with the right group of names. Those appointed should have experience in accounting, architecture, engineering, project management or similar skills. "Yes-man" types should not apply. To function correctly, in fact, this committee should make itself something of a nuisance to the school administration.

Having passed this school bond after two failures, West Sacramento will be watching how effectively their money is spent, and weighing the benefits the funds bring to local schoolchildren. Their experience with this bond will be of vital importance when they decide, several years from now, whether to consider another – and larger – school bond to build a new high school.

Now is the chance for WUSD to win the necessary credibility, and lay the groundwork to ask for another favor from the public.

He will be missed both here and throughout the region.

Letters to the Editor

Thank you West Sac!

On behalf of all the children who will benefit from the positive changes at the schools in the Washington Unified School District, thank you for passing Measure R.

Whether you were involved on the Support "R" Schools Committee, walked a precinct, worked at a phone bank, or voted Yes on November 2, your support was needed and you came through for our community. As we all know, the schools need improvements and now thanks to you, all the facilities will be better in the future.

It was a pleasure working on a committee that had a common goal in mind -- better educational facilities for our children. West Sacramento came together to make this happen and we thank all those who played a part in this important event.

RON MORAZZINI, Co-Chair
CLARK CAMERON, Finance Chair
West Sacramento Support "R" Schools Committee

Thanks also from the Superintendent

Tuesday, November 2nd, 1999, the citizens of West Sacramento overwhelmingly passed Measure R, the 17.54 million School Bond Measure placed on the ballot by the Board of Education.

This spectacular event happened not only because dozens of people volunteered hundreds of hours during the past few months, but because we all worked together in a spirit of collaboration. The positive impact this will have on our district will last well into the 21st century and influence our children and grandchildren.

We owe a great debt of gratitude to all those who worked hard to make this happen and especially to the over 3000 voters who gave us their confidence and support.

This in not the end of a two year process that resulted in the passage of Measure R, but rather the beginning of a new era for Washington Unified as we combine all of our skills and talents to build the premiere school district our students deserve. Thank you all for making this possible.

Maybe pay bonds in cash?

Our WUSD improvement bonds were approved by more than 79% of those voting. Davis and Woodland saw theirs approved, too, with Woodland to get a new high school.

Over in Sacramento County, the Grant Joint Union High School District did not succeed, since the more than 62% voter approval fell short of the needed 66 and 2/3%, or two-thirds rate.

On November 1, 1999, this thought occurred to me: Since school bonds cost taxpayers material and work (cash cost of projects) and the interest, would it not be useful for owner of each household and business to know, "How much would this project cost me without the interest?" Put another way, if taxpayers were given the approximate "10 to 15 day cash payment option", I believe many voters who vote "no" would then vote "yes"! (Of course many who had planned to vote "yes" would still vote "yes", but would also save maybe one-third of their time-pay cost.)

By paying cash, that's one less liability against those owner/voter's land when said property is sold. And when we go to buy a home or car, we are offered a "cash price" and a "credit price". So while the bond lender would make less interest as more opted to pay cash, there should still be ample lenders still willing to earn a few million dollars in bond interest.

This cash payment option for school bonds should prove attractive since it would offer taxpayers a shopping choice! And who knows: Maybe the financial experts could set up the bonding system so that taxpayers could pay off their share somewhere in the middle of the bond term...interest rates do change. And more options always attract more shoppers, especially when the name of the game is that of saving money...even as we vote to approve school bonds.

Birth of a memorial

For more than two years, a handful of Korean War veterans from West Sacramento's VFW Post 8762 have been trying to find a place in town to mount a humble plaque honoring all veterans who served in Korea during and after the war. It was something I had dreamed about ever since I returned from that war.

When the idea was first presented to the post, there didn't seem to be a problem. Then dissension emerged. Some WWII VFW members objected saying such a bronze plaque was too exclusive in that it only spotlighted Korean War veterans. They wanted it to include veterans from all wars. An all-inclusive memorial.

However, the Korean War veterans finally prevailed when a vote was taken during a regular post meeting to move forward on the memorial. The matter was heatedly debated causing one Korean War veteran to walk out and never return to the post.

During the meeting it was pointed out that the City of West Sacramento had already issued a proclamation honoring Korean War veterans in connection with the memorial and that no post funds would be used. Moreover, the scarcity of memorials recognizing veterans of that "forgotten war" provided West Sacramento with the opportunity to be the first city in the area to dedicate a site to the Korean War veterans. Not just local veterans, but anyone who ever served there.

The Korean War broke out on June 27, 1950 and stopped three years later on July 27, 1953. Over 50,000 Americans were killed and 8,200 are still missing. However, the war has never officially been declared over and the cease fire is still in effect. In fact, South Korea remains a hostile zone for military purposes. Numerous American soldiers have been killed in the Demilitarized Zone during confrontations with armed North Korean soldiers. An assignment there today makes any veteran eligible to join the VFW (Veterans of Foreign Wars), which has strict membership requirements. One of those is American citizenship and a campaign medal. The VFW bylaws have waived the latter for those assigned to hostile areas like Korea.

Once the VFW decided to go forward wtih the Korean War memorial, a search began for an appropriate site. A choice spot was the Palamidessi Bridge over the barge canal. But it was subsequently committed to the name it bears. Another selection was the new city civic center near the library. However, it too, was nixed as too secluded. Then someone mentioned the flower planter in front of the Money Store or the one behind it on the River Walk.

These flights of fancy were also dashed and the veterans decided on a marble stone somewhere along the open space of the new River Walk overlooking the Sacramento River and Old Town right behind the Money Store.

To make this possible, the veterans had to go through the city government, since the River Walk was their project. That's when the West Sacramento Parks and Community Services Commission came into play. It wanted to see the plans. When members of the panel viewed a drawing of the memorial, a black, polished marble stone, they flat out called it a "tombstone."

Rusty Mendez, the then-commission chairperson, said it would not fit in with the decor of the River Walk and stood out like a sore thumb. "We would like to see something more artsy," she crowed. The veterans went ballistic. "How dare they do that to us," fumed one past post commander, a Vietnam War veteran.

However, if they wanted the monument on the River Walk, the veterans would have to go along with whatever the city wanted. After all, this was a premier location. The city offered one of the triangle concrete blocks that lined the River Walk and a plaque that would fit perfectly on the built-in niche on its face.

Through private donations, enough money was obtained to have a beautiful bronze plaque made with a blue etching of the Korean Service Medal. The maker was Cache Creek Monuments of Woodland.

Starting a memorial project is no easy feet, as was learned. We thought all the veterans would jump on board. It was quickly discovered that blood is not thicker than water and that things cannot be taken for granted. But the job is nearly done and West Sacramento's VFW will have the satisfaction on November 20 at 11 a.m. of seeing a dream come true when its Korean War Memorial will be dedicated on the River Walk just in time to meet the new millenium.

WASHINGTON NEWS ITEMS

The Sacramento River registered three feet ten inches, United States gauge at the Southern Pacific bridge yesterday. This was a fall of about three feet since last week, but since a storm is brewing a sharp raise may be expected very soon again.

A depth of 500 feet was reached yesterday by the well borers in West Sacramento, but the work of going deeper will not stop although samples of water that have already been analyzed have proved up to be of first class character. The well will be bored to a depth of at least 700 feet and will be expected to furnish a supply of water for the township under the new management of McAnulty brothers.

Nothing of a definite character has been heard within the past two weeks of the absolute arrival of the McAnulty brothers. Those who seem to know are of the belief that none of the firm will show up until the deep well is completed or until water is secured for general distribution.

Before Judge Barry a civil case of much interest was up for judgment. John Lauer brought suit against an insurance company for $200 for loss he sustained in a fire last spring. Following the fire he accepted $150 from the insurance company to cover his loss, but subsequently found that to make complete repairs it would cost him $200 more. For this he made application but was refused. At the trial yesterday the insurance company was represented by Devlin & Devlin of Sacramento, and Lauer was represented by Romeo Hughes. Judge Barry took the case under advisement.

Turning customers away every night is the way Al Partridge expressed the condition of business in the West Side Auto Camp, near the Fifth street subway. Partridge believes that instead of a decrease in the winter months that there will be an increase in travel. He is forced to put up the bars every evening now at 6 p. m. or earlier, and has turned away as many as ten touring parties every night.

The West Sacramento Auto Camp is also enjoying an unprecedented prosperity; so much so that every cabin in the camp has been filled every night during the past week with no signs of abatement. Joe Pereira and wife with their boy, Fred, left here early yesterday for Oakland and Berkeley, where they will stay until after the big football game Saturday. They expect to be present at the game.

A. Cardoza was arrested in Bryte last Monday by Constable Buckingham on a charge of disturbing the peace. It seems that Constable Buckingham was looking after some places that were under quarantine on account of sickness and was enforcing the law as well as he knew how. The house was placarded also, but Cardoza paid no attention to that. Although warned by the constable that he should not enter the premises he told Buckingham that he would tell him all about it when he came out. Buckingham prevented him from entering the house and Cardoza became angry. He then assaulted the constable, who returned in kind, knocking him down, after which he offered his hands for the handcuffs. On appearing before Judge Barry on Tuesday the constable dealt lightly with him and he was only fined $25, after pleading guilty.

J. S. Hannah, wife and family are guests at the Seth Barry home on Fourth street from their home at Scio, Ore. They are on their way south and are taking in several localities where they may make a permanent home. Leaving here in a day or two they will go to petaluma, Oakland, San Francisco, San Jose and other points. Yesterday morning Mrs. Hannah was taken suddenly sick, presumably from something she had eaten or through indigestion.

Mrs. M. J. Sherman is again at her home after having spent a week with relatives in San Jose.

Last Saturday morning Mrs. Arthur Bryan (Marie Thomas) of West Sacramento presented her husband with a nine-pound baby boy. This is the second child in the family and Bryan is a proud young man for having become the father of a big boy.

Lee Fiburg was arrested last Monday in the vicinity of the M street bridge for disturbing the peace. On complaint of Charles Weiss, Constable Buckingham placed him in the lockup but when Fiburg appeared before Judge Barry for sentence Weiss failed to prosecute.

Last Saturday forenoon a large truck load of milk was wrecked at the crossing at Fifth and Ann streets, when a Southern Pacific freight train hit a truck owned by A. N. Joseph, the local dairyman. One of the Joseph boys was driving the truck to Sacramento and estimated that he could easily get over the crossing before the train reached it. He miscalculated, with the result that the guard on the engine struck the rear wheels of the truck, demolishing them and scattering milk in cans to the four winds. With the exception to the damage to the truck and the tearing open of many milk cans no further damage was done.

BOOSTERS' CLUB MAY MAKE PROVISIONS FOR POOR

Before the war it was customary for the ladies of Washington to hold a donation day, but during the war and since that time no united effort has been made to restore the practice.

The idea of donation day is to gather spare clothing and other material that may be required during the cold of the winter and during the rainy season, so that older people and children who are destitute may, at least, be covered during the winter season.

To restore the practice the Booster's Club resolved last Tuesday evening to start a quiet investigation, so that if the practice is necessary it may be returned to help the poor and the destitute.

For that purpose a committee of three ladies was named to look into the necessity or the practicability of the custom and report back next Tuesday evening.

The ladies named on this committee are Mrs. Ray Peek, Mrs. E. J. Curry and Mrs. C. H. Painter. Complaint was heard at the Booster's Club last Tuesday evening that the broken culvert at Fourth and Harriet streets had not yet been placed in condition so as to permit the surface water to run off. As a consequence the basements of some homes in the neighborhood were flooded during the last rain.

The secretary of the Booster's Club, Mrs. H. Palm, was requested to write to Supervisor Beardslee drawing his attention to the condition of the culvert and ask him to have it replaced so that no further damage would be done.

The committee on incorporation reported last Tuesday evening that it had practically decided to postpone action until after the state highway commission constructs a permanent roadway through the town. In unincorporated towns, the highway commission completes the state highways but where incorporation has been completed that portion of the road within the city limits must be paved by the town incorporated.

ESPINOZA WILL BE TRIED FOR ASSAULT WITH DEADLY WEAPON

A. Fuller of Washington attempted an unique way of securing the arrest of the man he wanted in custody. Fuller picked a fight with the man in Sacramento Saturday with the result that he himself was arrested, later released and the man with whom he picked the fight, A. Espinoza, is now in the Yolo County jail at Woodland, charged with assault to commit murder.

The case will come up before the superior court in Woodland next Friday afternoon. Fuller charges that several months ago he found Espinoza in his home near Washington, attempting to steal foodstuffs and other articles. He claims Espinoza struck him on the head with a hatchet. He reported the matter to the authorities at that time, but Espinoza had fled from this district.

Half a billion dollars is being spent every year on foreign travel by Americans.

HEADS OF DRUG RING BELIEVED TO BE UNDER ARREST

Gun play and a wild chase through the jungles of Yolo County featured the roundup Thursday night by Detective Seargeant E. J. Cox and Detective Walter Nelson of three men and a woman suspected by the officers of being members of a ring of dope peddlers.

As a result of the arrests, Cox and Nelson confiscated several hundred dollars' worth of narcotics in an automobile and in a houseboat in Yolo County. The arrests follow an investigation of two weeks' duration.

Those arrested are:

Fred Wilkinson, said by Cox and Captain Max Fisher, chief of the police bureau of identification, to be an exconvict and suspected ringleader of the ring.

R. Rathburn, alleged dope addict and will also be investigated as a burglar suspect.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Stone. Stone claims he is a logger and arrived at the boat house two nights ago from Marysville. His wife is 19 years old. They are held for investigation.

Wilkinson, the first to be arrested, was nabbed in an automobile in which he was sitting on Fifth street, J and K. Cox and Nelson discovered a large package, containing cocaine and morphine, concealed beneath the floor boards.

The officers then proceeded to the houseboat in Yolo County, where they found Rathburn and Stone and his wife. A complete search of the place brought to light two "plants" of cocaine and morphine. Another quantity of the forbidden narcotic was found concealed in the lining of a mackinaw belonging to Rathburn.

While the officers were searching the houseboat a man walked to it and was about to enter when he saw Cox and Nelson. He turned and fled.

Cox gave chase and when the fugitive refused to halt at his command he opened fire, shooting in the air to intimidate the fleeing man. The man escaped in the brush.

Captain Fisher and Cox say Wilkinson was sentenced to San Quentin from Sacramento on a grand larceny charge in 1916 for the theft of an automobile.

Rathburn is being investigated as a burglar suspect, as a result of the finding of a pass key in his possession.

It is believed by the officers Wilkinson was sitting in the machine awaiting a customer when he was arrested.

BAN PLACED ON ROLLED SOCKS FOR COURTLAND SCHOOL GIRLS

Courtland, Nov. 14.—An order was issued this week at the Courtland union high school by Miss Marifred Durant, instructor, in which it was announced that the girl students were not to wear rolled socks in the future.

Some of the girl students were heard to remark that they only possessed the kind that roll, so merchants will find a great demand in the days to come for the "long kind."

ALFALFA PAYS WELL WITHOUT IRRIGATION IN HOLLAND DISTRICT

Clarksburg, Nov. 21.—Averaging more than 10 tons to the acre, R. S. Harcourt reports a harvest of 147 tons of alfalfa from 14 acres of land in five cuttings on the Holland Land company tract, west of here. The yield this season is just six tons better than the yield last year. Both crops were grown without irrigation other than the natural subirrigation that prevails throughout a large part of the district.

CONDITION OF HENRY LEINBERGER, SR., STILL SERIOUS

Although still confined to his bed and partly delirious at times, Henry Leinberger, Sr., is holding his own as in comparison with the report made by the Independent last week. His relatives are of the impression that he may be able to get out again and attend to his affairs, but nevertheless are fully aware that his advanced age, 94 years, mitigates against him.

The pneumonia condition which injured him badly has mostly disappeared, but it left him in a very weakened condition. His appetite is also poor and his nurses find it difficult to force him to take the proper amount of nourishment.

Two nurses are in constant attendance on him and his physician never fails to make one or two visits each day.

ALASKA PACKERS CONSTRUCTING CAMP FOR MEN TO PLANT

On the western shore of Lake Washington the Alaska Packers Association is building a large camp to house about forty men who will be used in the near future in planting about 100 acres of pears in that location.

From the soil laboratory to the western shore of the lake and as nearly far north as the eastern end of the Yolo causeway a gravel road has been built by the association. This will be used for a great deal of hauling that is expected in that district.

Anyway the camp for the working men is being built and will be ready for use whenever a start is made in the planting of the trees.

It is barely possible that the orchard may not be set out this year because the particular kind of pear that is to be planted in the district may not be possible to secure.

Throughout the entire West Sacramento district farmers are taking advantage of the splendid condition of the soil to do their cultivating and seeding where grain is to be set out. Everything looks flourishing and the promise of a good season is cheering the hearts of all the farmers.

CONAWAY RANCH WILL PRODUCE 70,000 BAGS OF RICE

Rice growers of Yolo County are very well pleased with the results of their year's labors, now that it is harvested and out of the way. The crop was the most abundant that has been produced in this district since the rice industry was taken up here, and the selling price is the best since those received during the war, which will place the value of the crop in this county alone well into the millions.

For a time it was feared by many that the heavy and continued rains might interfere with the harvesting of the rice, or cause some injury to its quality. But the weather was the cause of only a slight inconvenience to the laborers, and perhaps a little added expense in getting the crop out of the fields. Some of the harvesting was completed as early as three weeks ago, while other growers did not complete their work until this last week.

George Cloud, manager of the Conaway ranch, states that their particular ranch has never handled such a crop as they have this year, nor ever received such prices. They began growing on the Conaway ranch in 1918. Their crop ran somewhat above thirty sacks to the acre this year, and they have a total of 2,200 acres on that ranch alone. That would make total production for the Conaway ranch something like 70,000 sacks or 7,000,000 pounds of rice.

The present prices paid for rice range above $3.50 per hundred pounds for the produce of this county. Many are getting as high as 20 cents above the standard price paid for the products of other districts, which have not as fine a quality as that of Yolo County.

The ladies of the W. C. T. U. are now going to issue censorships of only good pictures.

They might be expected to extend the censorship to booze also.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF VIRGINIA IRENE STOVER aka IRENE STOVER CASE NUMBER PB99-240

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of VIRGINIA IRENE STOVER aka IRENE STOVER:

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by Linda Robinson in the Superior Court of California, County of Yolo.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that Linda Robinson be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests the decedent's will and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on 12-9-99 at 8:30 a.m. in Dept. 2, 725 Court St., Woodland, CA 95695.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the deceased, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within four months from the date of first issuance of letters as provided in Probate Code section 9100. The time for filing claims will not expire before four months from the hearing date noticed above.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

and the Big Sky Conference Offensive Player of the Week.

My weekly predictions are back to .500 (10 wins, 10 losses, 1 tie) with the 49ers loss and wins by the Jets and Vikings. This week I like the Packers (+3) in Dallas and Seattle (-5 ½) over Denver. On Monday night take the Jets (+7) at New England.

The Sacramento Kings (1-1) returned from their Far East tour splitting a two game set with the Minnesota Timberwolves. The Kings won on the season opener on Friday 100-97, then lost the following night 114-101. The Kings and Timberwolves played before sell-out crowds of 32,000 plus that just fell in love the Jason Williams.

Many Japanese fans were viewed on TV wearing the Kings purple jerseys in support of Sacramento through out the weekend series. The Kings home opener on Friday night against the Utah Jazz is sold-out as the boys return home to host their archrivals Karl Malone, John Stockton and all that Jazz! If you don't have a ticket you can catch the game on cable TV (TNT) starting at 5:00 p.m.

Boxing fans will get another chance to see Evander Holyfield and Lennox Lewis try and unify the heavyweight title on Pay-Per-View ($49.95). Do you remember their last fight on March 13,1999 that ended in a controversial draw? I would like to make a prediction on the outcome of this bout but this is another Don King production so expect the unexpected!

Sacramento's newest World Champion Diego Corrales(29-0, 24 KO's) will make his first title defense against John Brown (20-6, 10 KO's) at the Chinook Winds Indian Casino in Oregon. Rumor has Corrales receiving six figures for this HBO production. Promoter Don Chargin is putting on a show on Tuesday, November 23 at the Radisson Hotel featuring four regular boxing bouts and three kickboxing matches, including a championship fight and one female amateur bout. Coming in the New Year, ESPN2 will feature Willie Jorrin in the main event on January 7, 2000, as he defends his N.A.B.F. title at the Memorial Auditorium. On a sad note, Sacramento lost one its greatest sports fans this week in the passing of Sacramento Mayor Joe Serna. Serna, who died from kidney cancer on Sunday morning, was the leader of the Sacramento regions efforts to gain national recognition through sports. He will be dearly missed.

See ya next week!!

PUBLIC NOTICE

The public is invited to attend a meeting of the Washington Unified School District Advisory Committee for comment and input on the future use or sale of unused school sites within the district.

The District Advisory Committee was formed to analyze and study future use of the unused sites for the purpose of making a recommendation to the Board of Education.

The meeting will be held at 6 p.m. on Tuesday, November 16, 1999, at the Washington Unified School District Administration Building located at 930 West Acres Rd., West Sacramento.

CASE NUMBER PB99-220

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of CARL WILLIAM JOHNSON, aka CARL W. JOHNSON, C.W. JOHNSON:

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by Charles Elven Johnson in the Superior Court of California, County of Yolo.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that Charles Elven Johnson be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests the decedent's will and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on 12-3-99 at 8:30 a.m. in Dept. 2, 725 Court St., Woodland, CA 95695.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the deceased, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within four months from the date of first issuance of letters as provided in Probate Code section 9100. The time for filing claims will not expire before four months from the hearing date noticed above.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

If this were a ranking for Olympic Hockey, we would be outraged.
It's time we became just as concerned with how well we compete in the classroom. The fact is, America's schools haven't kept pace with the rest of the world. Our standards are not high enough. Our teachers are undervalued. Our communities need to be more involved. But it's not too late to turn things around. In some places, it's already happening. Find out how together we can bring about the kind of improvement we desperately need. For a free booklet outlining how we can keep the promise of real education for all of America's children, call 1-800-96-PROMISE.

Elk Grove clergyman arrives:

River of Life Church gets full-time pastor

The Rev. Dave Losey, an associate pastor for the past three years at Elk Grove Community Church, has been called as the first full-time pastor of River of Life Community Church in West Sacramento.

The calling, a year after the non-denomination church was formed, allows River of Life to move to morning services for the first time. Sunday worship is now at 9:30 a.m. at 2860 Jefferson Blvd. (the Seventh Day Adventist Facility), with full nursery and children's ministries available.

There is also a Sunday evening Bible study group, the MOSH junior/senior high youth group Wednesday nights, a weekly men's breakfast Saturdays, and a bi-weekly women's group on Thursdays. The church will again have an intimate Christmas Eve service at 6 p.m. on Dec. 24.

Pastor Losey, his wife Linda and their three sons moved to West Sacramento in October. For more information on the church, call 371-6706.

WNBA star supports local teen project

From Second Mile

In their pursuit of a six-day-a-week teen center, the youth of West Sacramento have picked up a new and rather imposing ally: the finest female basketball player on the globe.

Yolanda Griffith, the Sacramento Monarchs center named Most Valuable Player in the WNBA last summer, has agreed to put her name and influence behind an annual youth achievement awards program for the Sacramento region, with all of the proceeds going to the planned Second Mile Teen Center in West Sacramento. The fundraising event, already drawing corporate interest, is hoped to be a financial cornerstone for the new teen center, slated to open in late 2000.

"Things like this (teen center) are just so important," said Griffith, currently touring with Team USA in preparation for the 2000 Olympic Games. "Kids today need more positive influences."

The annual "Yo for Youth Awards" will honor outstanding high school seniors from five counties surrounding Greater Sacramento each year, beginning with the spring of 2000. Scholarships will be awarded to high achievers in categories such as academics, athletics, community service, music and the arts. The award winners will be honored at a gala banquet in early May, and introduced in a pre-game ceremony with Griffith at a Monarchs game.

"This is such a significant development for the teen center and the youth of West Sacramento," said former mayor and city councilwoman Cindy Tuttle, who serves on Second Mile's executive committee. "Yolanda's involvement puts us in a whole new ballpark in terms of visibility and corporate sponsors. We're so excited about it. All of West Sacramento should be."

In her first season in the WNBA, the 29-year old Griffith dominated the league in 1999. She led the WNBA in rebounding and steals, was second in the league in scoring, and was third in blocked shots and field goal percentage. At season's end, she was named the Most Valuable Player, Defensive Player of the Year and Newcomer of the Year.

The Second Mile Teen Center is a joint project of West Sacramento citizens and the global youth spiritual organization Campus Life, which operates four other teen centers in the Sacramento area. Its mission is to embrace and empower youth with a balance of recreational, social and educational opportunities. The center is scheduled to open in a to-be-determined location in central West Sacramento next fall.

For more information on the "Yo for Youth Awards" or on becoming a member of the Second Mile Founders' Club," call 375-1153.

Charter or a satellite dish? You decide.

Thinking about making the switch to satellite? It could more expensive and complicated than you think. Points worth considering:

Are local stations included? If tuning in to local news, sports and weather are part of your daily routine, you have the edge with Charter. Satellite service customers must subscribe to basic cable service or install a rooftop antenna to receive local stations.

Can we watch different programs at the same time? With Charter, service on additional TV's is FREE (excluding equipment charges). Satellite dish owners must purchase additional receivers and pay additional monthly programming fees.

What if there's a problem? Just call. We'll send a technician to repair the problem — promptly and usually free of charge. Most satellite services require dish owners to purchase service contracts or return equipment for repairs.

What about access to new technologies and services? With Charter, your service is upgraded whenever new technology becomes available. Dish owners with outdated equipment must invest in a new system or do without.

Theft of cable TV costs everyone

- This $5-billion-a-year felony impacts cable customers the same way shoplifting impacts shoppers. As cost to the cable company rise, so do rates.
- Unauthorized converter boxes and cable tampering can disrupt and weaken the signals that come into paying customers' homes.
- Cable companies pay franchise fees to the municipalities they serve. Because franchise fees are based on the number of customers served, communities with fewer paying customers receive less money.

At Charter Communications, we encourage you to let us know about suspected cable theft. We want to deliver great cable service at a fair price to you and all our customers.
